Professional Athletes Disability Plan

Whether it is a team sport or an individual sport, Professional Athletes' careers expose them to countless possible injuries, and they are susceptible to illnesses just like any other person. Even a minor disability can be career-ending for a professional athlete. Because the risk is so high, traditional insurance companies usually do not underwrite disability insurance plans for athletes. Pacific Elite Management Group provides high limit coverage policies for professional athletes to guard against temporary disabilities and/or permanent disabilities.

When you contact our office for assistance we will happily explain what can be accomplished for your particular athlete client based on their contracts, endorsements, and/or winnings.

What is a temporary total disability (TTD) benefit?

Temporary Total Disability provides a monthly benefit if as a result of an accidental bodily injury (on or off the field) or sickness giving rise to the total physical inability to participate in their sport. The policy will begin to pay a benefit following an elimination period and will continue to pay as long as the person remains disabled, but will in no case pay longer than the maximum benefit period purchased. Temporary Total Disability provides for the quickest cash flow to allow a person to maintain their standard of living. This benefit is available as a stand alone benefit or oft en times in conjunction with a permanent total disability benefit.

What is a permanent total disability (PTD) benefit?

Permanent Total Disability provides a lump sum benefit if as a result of an accidental bodily injury (on or off the field) or sickness giving rise to the total physical inability to participate in their sport. Additionally, the player has no hope of improvement sufficient to ever commence a career as a professional in their sport. Permanent Total Disability is often referred to as “career ending disability” and is designed to replace both personal and what would have been future income.

What is the maximum TTD benefit available?

The monthly benefit is determined by underwriters by looking back at the athlete’s contract, endorsements, and/or winnings. If the insurance is for personal income replacement then the benefit can be as high as 65% of earnings. For contracts such as sponsorships or endorsements the benefit can be as high as 100% of the remaining contract.

What is the maximum PTD benefit available?

If the athlete is under a contract, then the maximum lump sum is determined by several factors such as current contract level, the athlete's age, the athlete's statistics compared to other players who have recently re-signed, and the player's potential for future income. Based on all these factors, underwriters can quote 1 - 20 times the athlete's current income.

Is the benefit tax-free?

The benefits paid under this plan of insurance work as any other disability plan, i.e. if the premiums are paid with after tax dollars then the benefit is tax free.

Is coverage available on and off the field?

Coverage is 24/7 on and off the field and for both accidental bodily injury or sickness or disease. The plan can be tailored to fit a specific need so as to not duplicate coverage or guarantees already in place. For example, a player who is 100% covered while playing or practicing might only need "off field" coverage. We can also provide an accident only plan if needed.
